Cinematic Chatter

By Malcolm Millar

Hello everybody! Lovely, dark-haired new film star Anne Bancroft hates the outdoors but has been spending a lot of time outdoors in her latest film portrayals. Miss Bancroft, who is already celebrated for her work as Mrs. Sol Hurok in the motion picture, "Tonight We Sing", loves the picture, but literally adored absorbing all of that sunshine while the film was being made on location in Los Angeles. The actress maintains she'd rather absorb the light generated by movie studio floodlights anytime. As a school girl in New York's Bronx, Anne refused to play baseball or softball. Her game was basketball, played in doors. She was captain of the team and gave inspired leadership—until the game moved out-doors in the springtime. Originally trained as a singer, Anne switched to the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, after a throat infection fogged her warbling. Before singing for motion pictures Miss Bancroft achieved considerable success in television roles in New York. Miss Bancroft's aversion to sunlight is called heliophobia. But her movie fans all say "on her it looks the greatest." See you at the movies—Mal.

Plans were made for the annual installation of Garden Club and Garden Circle officers to take place during a luncheon at the Community Park building, Canal Point, Thursday, May 27.

Charley Johns thinks that the candidates for the office of Governor could get a lot of sound ideas for Florida's state government if the voters would just speak right out and say what they think Florida needs and what they want done.

Charley Johns believes that the voters might like to have a chance to tell the candidates what they think in addition to being told what the candidates propose to do.

Charley Johns knows that the average person hesitates to put his thoughts on paper and send them along to the candidate.

Horsepower Replaces Manpower on Farms to Move Many Heavy Loads

Shown above are four of the many methods used to move produce on the farm. Although they do not cover the field by any means, they illustrate some of the ways in which horsepower is replacing manpower in handling many of those "back-breaking" farm jobs.

By IRA MILLER

Farm Electrification Bureau

In the panel at the upper left, an elevator is used to move corn into a temporary crib. This application may be more popular than ever this year because of a shortage of permanent storage places on some farms and the prospects of another bumper crop. The carry-over of corn this year may reach 900,000,000 bushels. The picture at the upper right illustrates the combined use of a wagon unloader and an inclined plane elevator to move newly harvested onions into a storage building for forced air drying.

At the lower left we see a horizontal conveyor at work in a barn mow. The bales are dumped on the conveyor at the mow door after being hoisted up by means of an inclined plane elevator operation adjacent to the farmer's wagon. In the mow, the conveyor is shifted around until all the bales are located where desired. Boards are angled along the bed of the conveyor to "bump" off the bales on either side. These guide boards are inserted and removed manually to control the direction of "fall" for each approaching bale. The picture at the lower right shows another way of handling baled hay—this time for stacking on the ground floor of a pole barn. A small electric motor does the work of "lifting" bales to various heights.

Many farmers have gone far beyond the equipment shown here. Some move mixed feed by conveyors or blowers directly to the feed lot; others "auger" grain out of storage bins for removal to feed carts, grinders and mixers. Automatic feeders carry mash to chickens or silage to cattle; other types of conveyors remove manure from barn gutters. There seems no end to the ways in which farmers use electric power to move or remove food products and waste materials much more easily, quickly, conveniently and at less cost than their grandfathers would have thought possible.

Weather Film Shown Canal Point Lions

Phelix A. Slonaker, scoutmaster of Canal Point Boy Scout Troop 24, presented the program at the dinner meeting of the Canal Point Lions Club in the Community Park building Monday night, with Delmar L. Hooks, retiring president, presiding. Slonaker showed a silent film on "Weather" and explained the various scenes in the film during the unreeling.

It was announced that Osceola Upthegrove, president-elect of the club, is convalescing at his home in Canal Point following recent eye surgery at a West Palm Beach hospital, and the installation of the new club officers will be held as soon as he is again able to attend regular club meetings.

Hialeah Track Draws Visitors

MIAMI—It helps, of course, but you don't have to have running horses to get a crowd to a race track. Recent reopening of the Hialeah track to sightseers proved this. Between 4,500 and 5,000 turned out the first day of the summer season at the track for a look at the flamingos and tropical landscaping. Hialeah officials expect more than 600,000 to visit the admission-free public park during the next eight months. Of special interest to sightseers at this season is the nesting and hatching of the famed flamingo colony of 700 birds, largest in the world on public view. Because of major improvements, including a new $2,500,000 clubhouse, it was necessary to close Hialeah last year between racing season.

Circle To Beautify Several Projects

The Gardenia Garden Circle at a meeting at the home of Mrs. M. C. Carter at Port Mayaca Tuesday made plans for a work day by members each week through the summer, this work to be devoted to the beautification of the Canal Point Waterworks, the Port Mayaca Cemetery and the roadside in front of the Rardin building. Members were urged to root crotons and surnam cherry plants for use in these beautification projects.

Announcement was made of the annual installation luncheon to be held in the Community Park building at Canal Point Thursday, May 27, at 12:30 p. m., when both the newly elected officers of the club and the two circles will be installed. Mrs. J. S. Chastain presented a program in which she stressed the value of citrus trees as ornamental, as well as their fruit-bearing qualities.

Great Gains are Ahead For Florida and You—

Citizens of Florida stand on the threshold of great opportunity in this rapidly growing State. Whether we shall go forward to enjoy the gains in store depends largely on the honesty, efficiency and sound policies of the leader we vote into the Governor's chair.

FLORIDA MUST GO FORWARD

We can not allow political gravy-train riders to continue plundering and sapping our economy if we are to stay abreast of needs and keep moving forward.

We can not be detoured by the fear spreading of desperate politicians who, seeing their machine swamped by more than 400,000 Odham-Collins votes in the first primary, are fabricating rumors, deceitful inferences and even bald lies to save their gravy-train.

LET'S GET THINGS DONE

We must consider our pressing needs for more schools, good highways, and better State institutions to serve Florida's fast-growing population. Will these things be built by using millions of dollars to pay-off and enrich political pals? Or will they be more sure of early completion with the taxpayer's money invested honestly and wisely to the maximum benefit of the whole State?

YOU HAVE THE ANSWER

The answers to those questions are obvious, but do you know that you and other thinking, independent citizens like you hold the answers in their votes? But no matter what you think; if you don't vote, your thoughts don't count. Make your thinking count at the polls and urge your friends to go and vote to carry Florida Forward with Collins.

Christian Science Group Of Canal Point

That spiritualization of thought and action is necessary for real progress will be brought out in Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul and Body."

The following passage will be among those read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual—they must near the border interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite,—in order that sin and mortality may be put off" (265:5).

From the Bible will be read the following counsel given by the Apostle Paul to the Corinthians: "Now we have received, not the spirit of this world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God" (I Corinthians 2:12).

The Golden Text is from II Corinthians: "What agreement hath the Temple of God with idols? for ye are the temple of the living God" (6:16).

The 'Dictator' Speaks!

There is one thing sure at Tallahassee these days. If Acting Gov. Charley Johns, the "political accident" from Starke, doesn't like someone in appointive office, or he just up and digs up "charges" and fires the appointee, or appointees.

He started off in his "accidental" role as acting governor by ousting a large number of McCarty appointees, and now he has wound up his performance by firing the entire State Road Board, and the State hotel commissioner, in one fell swoop. And he managed to dig up those "charges," too... "Malfeasance, and/or misfeasance, and/or incompetency, and/or neglect of duty in office." There were specific charges under these headings, too, but they were just as fanciful!

Now we will have a complete new State Road Board loaded with pals and cronies of the Man from Starke; the North Florida "dictator" and one-time railroad conductor turned insurance man.

Mr. Johns, who still is a State senator from his home district, and who never has been elected to office by more than 6,000 or 7,000 voters in his life, is now the acting chief executive of the State of Florida and having one heck of a good time for himself firing fine people appointed by the late Gov. Dan McCarty whom the people basis of the principles he enunciated during his campaign, and his long life in Florida as an able business man, rancher, citrus grower.

But his appointees are not good enough for Charley Johns. They must be ousted when they rightfully refuse to resign on his personal demand, and be replaced with men who are "loyal" only to Charley Johns.

We do not know how the State Supreme Court will rule on Charley Johns' eligibility to run for the two-year unexpired term of governor next year, but we do know that there are a lot of Floridians who do not like this high-handedness, who will vote against him if and when he DOES run!

Frankly, we do not see in the Man from Starke the greatness that should be visible in any man who sits in the Governor's Office and Mansion at Tallahassee. We would greatly enjoy seeing Charley Johns returned to the quietude of Starke, forthwith. come next November!

WHY DID THE POST TIMES SUDDENLY CHANGE ITS MIND ABOUT JOHNS?
Was it because one of the newspaper's officials was named to a State Road Job in the Johns political machine.

WHAT KIND OF DEALS WERE MADE TO GAIN THIS LAST-MINUTE JOHNS ENDORSEMENT BY THE PERRY PAPERS?

The BEST ANSWER to these questions and Johns' promises and deals in Palm Beach County is to .....

Elliott Cites New Re-Appportionment

South Florida's fight for adequate re-apportionment of the House on the basis of population gains in the last ten years will bring about one of the most critical situations in the history of South Florida and the State at large in the next session of the Legislature, according to B. Elliott, veteran Palm Beach County Representative.

Although Rep. Ted David of neighboring Broward County will be the Speaker of the House in the next session, when re-apportionment is scheduled as a matter of Constitutional dictation, the South Florida leader will be forced to work without the assistance of ten or more experienced members from the area who are being replaced by "freshmen" serving their first terms.

According to an Associated Press summary of the results of the first Primary May 4, the bulk of the changes in the House will occur in South Florida and in the Counties whose representatives voted with Palm Beach County in the 1945 re-apportionment battle. At that time, after an historic 113-day special session South Florida gained two additional Senators. Broward was voted a Senatorial district instead of sharing one Senator with Palm Beach, and Sarasota gained a Senatorial district.

Palm Beach County will have one new representative in F. O. "Buddy" Dickinson, elected in the May 4 primary to the seat relinquished by John Bollinger. Rep. Elliott, who served 10 years in the House, led the three-man field in the first primary on a county-wide basis, and was given a majority over both opponents in the Everglades area where he has lived for the last 32 years. He is one of several experienced members of the House whose re-election is subject to the run-off primary next Tuesday.

In Miami's Dade county veterans Fassel and Floyd left the House for Congress and a judgeship and Rep. Okell is in the runoff. Speaker David has a "freshman" colleague from Broward and new men have been named from Lee, Marion, Martin, Pinellas, Polk, St. Johns, St. Lucie, Sarasota and Duval counties and there will be a number of changes in the Senate, including Ted Cabot as a replacement for George Laird of Broward and Wallace F. Sturgis the 1951 president of the Senate, who did not run.

"Speaker David has written to me requesting my assistance in the work of preparing for committee assignments and other organizational matters in connection with the next session," Rep. Elliott said, "and I consider it a privilege to offer him my support. We shall attempt to get an early census in an effort to show that Palm Beach County is entitled to a third seat in the House as the fifth largest county in the State."

Rubber Co. Tells Of Squeal-Proof Tire

A new automobile tire that gives 25 percent more mileage and which does not squeal or hum, was announced today by United States Rubber Co. It has the greatest advances in performance and appearance since the introduction of the extra low pressure tire in 1947, according to company officials.

The tire, called the U. S. Royal 8, was specifically engineered for both tube and tubeless construction and both types will be available locally from Paul's Service Station at Canal Point, Fla. It is believed the tubeless version will be original equipment on several 1955 automobiles.

The extra mileage results in part from the new tread design. The usual design has been reversed, and the narrowest rib is on the outside edge to eliminate annoying tire squeal and hum.

The footprint of the tire is almost rectangular, according to Paul Sasser. This places relatively more rubber on the road than other tires with ovalized footprints, and gives improved traction and braking.

Easy rolling and easy steering are aided by the tire's wide center rib. Riding comfort is materially better, U. S. Rubber says, and electronic measurements show that less shock reaches the steering wheel and the passengers than with any other comparable tire.

New automobile styling tends to expose more of the wheels and tires. In the new U. S. Royal 8, Mr. Sasser says, the usual "gingerbread" has been removed from the sidewall, which now looks much cleaner and blends with new style bodies. Safety slots give skid resistance, and outer grooves are dog-leg in shape to cast off small stones. Rupture resistance has been increased about 16 percent.

The U. S. Royal 8 is in the regular non-premium price range. Prices of the tubeless will be roughly equivalent to the tube tire version plus the tube itself.
